

Young Scientist Awards of IAPS

Young Scientist Awards of International Academy of Physical Sciences are awarded to the desirous applicants of CONIAPS up to 35 years of age in the core subjects of Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, Earth Sciences, Computer Sciences along with interdisciplinary areas of other related subjects on the basis of their paper quality and presentation in the conference.

Since, CONIAPS XXVII in the year 2021 is being organised online at 25 departments of reputed institutions across India, it has been decided by the Academy to adopt the following procedure for selection of Young Scientist Awardees -

1. All eligible and desirous candidates, willing to participate in Young Scientist Award presentation (up to 35 years of age) are required to approach the Convener/Organising secretary of CONIAPS XXVII (based on the theme of his/her research interest) on or before 7th October 2021 to submit his/her unpublished full-length paper authored by him alone or with his/her mentor. A brief Bio-data mentioning his/her earlier research publications and the High School certificate for age verification are also the essential documents to be submitted for the YSA participation.
2. The Convener/ Organising secretary will inform him/her about the acceptance of the paper and the time of presentation. The list of eligible candidates will be sent by him/her to email id: iapsgensec@gmail.com upto October 10, 2021.
3. YSA presentations will be scheduled on the first or second day of the conference. The time of presentation will be fixed in consultation with the respective Convener. The jury members will be decided by the General Secretary of IAPS.
